Dear Ross,

As you know, Infosys International Inc. had been actively searching for a new location which would be appropriate for its corporate headquarters. Thanks to your understanding of our needs, your market knowledge and your professional diligence, you were able to locate the perfect building and negotiate an excellent deal for us.

We also appreciate your follow up after the transaction was completed by bringing us potential subcontractors. Your attention to our needs has been beyond the call of duty.

Once again, we are very happy with the location you found for us. We enjoyed working with you and would highly recommend your company and your services to any potential customer with commercial space problems.

Very truly yours,
